2. RUSSIAN AS A FOREIGN LANGUAGE

A more general course with groups from 8-12 people made up on the basis of their language level and focus specifically on language training (without special subjects). This type of program is more flexible in terms of start dates, and the tuition fees depend on the number of academic hours student wants to take.

After the course you may take internationally recognized Test of Russian as a Foreign Language (TORFL)

Course duration - 1 academic year

1. On-campus learning

Documents are processed remotely, studying process starts only after arrival to Russia in order to get maximum language immersion

2. 100% distant learning

All documents are processed remotely, studying takes 28-32 hours per week

3. Mixed learning

Start studying in a distance format before arrival to Russia - the most popular option because it allows you to take the most out of the course
